
Editor-in-Chief Note

Dear fellow malacologists,

It has always been the aim of Strombus to become a worldwide established journal in Malacology and we are constantly striving to achieve this goal. Therefore, it is a great pleasure to inform you that Strombus has just gone through some improvements.

The more conspicuous changes can be seen in the journal's aesthetics and formatting style, which we believe will make reading more pleasurable and manuscript formatting/submitting easier.

We also take the present opportunity to thank all our readers and authors, who actively contribute to the journal's development, continuously aiding in improving the journal.

Without further ado, we hope that you enjoy the new Strombus.

Kind regards,

The editor.

Carlo M. Cunha